Victoria loves vintage clothing and the ideas of feminine, soft, simple beauty. Studying shape and cut she carefully and cleverly combines a variety of jerseys with contouring rubber panelling. Both contrasting components are harmonised by movement. The jersey flows over the body whilst the rubber slips like water, resulting in absolute elegance and grace in glamorous, womanly, svelte pieces. The body is exaggerated by banding that clings to, and complements every curve. Sheer fabrics against block colours are well balanced to fully exploit shadows and shade. A muted palette of cool greys, blush pink and deep red make Victoria's collection an undeniably sophisticated one that sculpts the female form.
